Extend Fete To Aid Fund For Relief

Wistaria Town Ablaze With Color As Hundreds Of Vines Come Into Full Bloom

Next Monday the most successful of all Sierra Madre's Wistaria fetes closes, and the thousands upon thousands of lavender flowers will commence to yield to the big vine's summer clothing of leaves.

More than 27,000 people already have come to Sierra Madre, primarily to see the fete, have driven down the flowered streets and marveled at the luxurious Spring garb that nature has lavished on the countless gardens here. And still they come, in long processions of cars.

So much has the fete surpassed any previous year, and so lovely are the blossoms yet, that the firemen have decided to extend the closing day until Monday, instead of the previously arranged Sunday. The entire proceeds of the extra day will be contributed to the Red Cross Chapter here for relief work in Long Beach and other towns stricken by the earthquake.

Now at the height of its glory, the Big Vine is not lonesome in its beauty. Besides the hundreds of small vines in nearly every dooryard in the city there are several good sized plants that have occasioned much comment during the various garden tours that have been conducted by the Red Cross.

At Mrs. Cora Corum's ranch, at the foot of Sturtevant Trail, there is a vine ,heavy with lavender bloom, that trails over arbors and reaches for 60 feet about the house, many of its tendrils climbing ambitiously up the mountainside in the backyard. In the beautiful gardens of Miss Thomasella Graham there is not only a large Chinese wistaria of the usual variety, but a white Japanese species as well.

The entire east side of the John Osgood residence at 617 West Montecito avenue is covered with a solid mass of the city's most famed flower and S. R. G. Twycross has a plant which he planted 15 year ago and which is now trained over an arbor with a spread of over 100 feet. This vine is unusual in that it blooms sometimes twice yearly.

The first wistaria in the city to blossom this season was that owned by Mrs. Alice M. Staples, at her home at 299 East Laurel. It burst into bloom early in January and is now nearly entirely covered with leaves, only a few of the blossoms remaining in view. However, a second vine, with a double blossom on the Staples place is now blossoming profusely and attracting much attention. Other fine vines are loccated at the George Ferris home, 585 West Central, in Henry Isaacs' Japanese garden on Sturtevant Drive, and over the greenhouse of the Ward Nursery on Mountain Trail.

Fox Chase Features An All-Day Session Of New Bridle Club

Extending the usual breakfast meeting into an all day sporting jaunt, members of the Foothill Bridle and Breakfast Club of Sierra Madre enjoyed the hospitality of the Gerald Farmans last Sunday, and 55 horsemen cantered over nearby hills in a "fox chase" game.

Luncheon and dinner was served on the Farman's Orange Grove estate. It was attended by 85 guests who joined in the songs that were lead by B. B. McCollum, master of ceremonies, from Los Angeles. Harold Link, manager of the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, was among the prominent guests.

Frequent Visitor Here Kills Self At Los Angeles Home

Funeral services for Mark Vantine, 42, who took his life at the home of his parents in Hollywood on Tuesday.

Mr. Vantine has lived intermittently at the Sierra Madre Hotel for the past five years and ill health is believed to have made him despondent. Shortly after breakfasting with his parents, Mr. Vantine was found by his mother in his automobile in the garage with a bullet hole through his temple. He was an only child and his parents are prostrated with grief. He was well-known in Sierra Madre and his many friends will be shocked to learn of his death.

Shippey Hears High Praise For Home Towners

By Lee Shippey

WE SIERRA MADREANS are pretty good about appreciating our own, but it always makes us feel good when some outsider confirms our judgments.

The other day I went to see Louise Dressler, whose fine performance in "State Fair" has started her on a new wave of popularity—and may it be a permanent wave! Well, anyway, when she learned I was from Sierra Madre she exclaimed: "How are my friends the Hawkses? They played with me in one of my shows, and they're good actors as well as real people."

Work Of 14 Home Artists Being Shown

Local Painters Contribute Their Most Representative Exhibit At Gallery

An exhibit of 14 of Sierra Madre's own artists, embracing the entire field of painting including water-color, miniature work, oil and pastel, was ushered in at the Little Gallery in the City Hall last night. No finer representative work of local artists has ever been collected before in one exhibition, and by the grace of this event alone the city would be established definitely as one of the most outstanding cultural and artistic centers on the coast.

Ella Shepard Bush, whose miniatures admittedly rank with the world's finest, shows two of her works. A portrait of Mrs. Richard Orkford, of Long Beach, was brought here by Miss Bush the day before the earthquake. The coloring of the background, warm rose, against which the snowy hair and pale complexion stand out, and draperies of white lace, well defined, are remindful of a cameo. The other is a very successful arrangement of two children's heads on a four-inch circular ivory. Here the color scheme is in the iridescent blues, greens and delicate violet for which Miss Bush is especially noted. The more vigorous colors suggestive of childhood are used in the figures themselves. Both miniatures were exhibited last night only and in the future may be seen at Miss Bush's Sierra Madre studio.

As sharp a contrast to Miss Bush's work as could be imagined are Wolfgang Reitherman's three water color caricatures, "Earthquake," "Unusual Weather," and "There Ain't No Justice." All are done with well blended pigments, all show artistic technique, yet as is rare with such work, all are frankly cartoons with humorous motifs.

Leonard Borman, working in unusual mediums that blend ink, crayon and water, has produced three dog portraits, each one of which is executed in diference to the type of the subject. "Freckles," "Shag," and his other canine sitter, which incidentally is a setter, range from sketchy impishness to precise aristocracy. His pictures are extremely alive, even to the dogish wet noses.

While Margaret Griebenow contributes but two of her canvasses, both are worthy of note. One, of her sister "Sara," is her first oil painting to be exhibited, while the other ,"Mountain Tower" is a strong water color that it typi-

Paving Of Central Avenue In Arcadia Undertaken At Last

Arcadia started work Wednesday on the improvement of Central avenue from the eastern boundary of Sierra Madre to Double Drive, thus assuring at last a safe and modern roadway outlet for this city in that direction. In consequence of a county allocation of $4000 Arcadia is constructing a 30 foot stretch of four-inch oil macadam that will complete the project started with the construtcion of the new Santa Anita bridge. The bridge is now nearing completion.

Although Sierra Madre's portion of Central avenue at the eastern extreme is a 45 foot roadway, there will be no "bottleneck" occasioned by the 15-foot difference in the two streets, as the southern line of the Arcadia right of way will be even with the southern curb in this city, and the connection will be gradually curved on the north.

Year's First Ball Game To Be A Sizzler

Pasadena's Near Champions To Renew Battle With Local Pennant Winners

Baseball bats start cracking in Sierra Madre two weeks from today, April 21, at which time the local Soldiers lead off the 1933 Legion Night League season by jumping, without preliminaries, at the throats of their chief foe—Pasadena. And so the ball year opens at the same point that it closed last fall. It will be remembered that the locals won the valley championship in a spectacular series with the Crown City Legion in '32, and that the final thrilling game of that series was played here.

Putting reverse stuff on the usual procedure of saving the best for the last, the complete ball schedule released yesterday by Manager Waverly Pratt, disclosed that but four games will be played away from home. It also became known that Miner Harkness will act in the capacity of team captain for the season. His team-mates chose him at a meeting last Monday evening.

Other bits of news added to the baseball pot-pouri this week should do much to satisfy the appetite of the town's most rabid sport fans. The Legion will back the organization of a Junior team for competition in the City League. Youths of high school age will be recruited for this team. This means that there will definitely be five ball teams ni Sierra Madre during the coming months—the Legion, Juniors, Icemen, Furniture Company and Bethany Church.

As for the Legion team, it will probably be made up of the same players who garnered the Legion League title last year. Starting lineup will probably go somewhat as follows: Pratt, p; Evans, c; Pickett, 1b; Burroughs, 2b; Reavis, 3b; Harkness, ss; Young, rf; Hill, lf; Olsen, cf.

The Sierra Madre Furniture Company is actually the same outfit as the 1932 All-Stars, or Merchants. The Icemen will have as their nucleus the Miller brothers, while names of a team to represent Bethany Church will be known in a week or so.

While the school board has just advertised for construction of an eight-foot woven wire fence to form a semi-circle about the south-east portion of the playing field on the school grounds, the new fence will probably not be finished in time for the opening game. So in order that the bleacher occupants won't be in danger of getting hit by a stray ball or flying bat, arrangements are being made to throw up a temporary fence if necessary made out of the old one that has been torn down, for the opening game on April 21.

Boosters of the plan to give Sierra Madre a real baseball diamond have arranged a conference with a property owner with the possibility that a diamond will soon be available.

Home Team Fares Well In Makeup Of Ball Schedule

Benefit For Distressed Here Tonite

Everyone May Help Quake Sufferers By Attending Really Good Show

The story of "Little Women," dear to the hearts of young and old alike, will live again at the school auditorium this afternoon and evening.

Under the capable direction of Mr. Elias Day a very fascinating production can be expected from the Long Beach Players who are giving the show for the benefit of Sierra Madre's Earthquake Relief Fund.

According to Mr. J. S. Billheimer, finance chairman of the fund, contributions have not been as generous as had been hoped, and it is very necessary that the tickets for this entertainment sell well to swell the amount to respectable proportions. Mr. Billheimer said: "We had hoped this fund would represent Sierra Madre 100 per cent, however small the contributions might be, for many small ones would give us what we should have. Almost any one can spare a quarter, whether intending to go to the performance or not. This seems to me a wonderful opportunity for those who cannot give any large amount to have a share in helping the sorely distressed disaster victims. I cannot understand why the tickets are not all snapped up.

"These actors are giving their services. They expect nothing in return but the satisfaction of knowing they are helping those who suffered more than they did. They experienced the full horrors of the quake, several barely escaping with their lives. They realize the need and suffering as we, safe up here in Sierra Madre, cannot. But at least we can buy the tickets and show our appreciation of their grit as well as helping a good cause."

Mrs. Francis Eakman, in charge of stage arrangements, calls attention to the fact that the matinee starts at 3:15, after school closes, and that the evening curtain will rise at 8:15.

Art League Finds Home; Ready To Go

By Henry Ivins Hawxhurst

By golly we are so happy we are liable to bust wide open. Our dream is soon to be realized. You know we said in The News of December 23 that "The League will have to go into a sort of winter hibernation but that there is going to be an Art League here in our community with instruction in art as free as air just as sure as we have California sunshine."

Now with the coming of spring buds, beer and better times the Art League will blossom forth.

This has been made possible by the generous offer of Miss Lydia Webster, one of our most beloved old residents.

Many outstanding art colonies in the nation have had their birth in some old barn. There is something about the atmosphere of an old barn that seems to stimulate the budding spores of embryonic art.

In the rear of Miss Webster's estate is an old barn that has not known the smell or sound of a quadruped in more than a quarter of a century. Realizing that the main stumbling block of the League was its inability to secure housing facilities, Miss Webster has offered the use of the building for the League students. As we write and look from our studio window we see the old barn and if it doesn't look as if it were grinning we are goofy. Its been standing there for all these years just yearning to do something arty and now it is happy with anticipation.

It is one thing to assemble a group of ambitious art students and another to find some place where they can study—we have

Mayor Served With Summons In Canyon Injunction Suit

Mayor H. Clay Reavis was the first member of the city administration to be served this week with a complaint in the injunction suit brought by six Sierra Madre Canyon property owners against the city to prevent the collection of an asserted overcharge for the paving of Canyon streets and roads.

Special Services At Local Churches During Holy Week

Sierra Madre's churches all are prepared to observe Holy Week with appropriate ceremony and services, their pastors announce. At the Congregational Church a communion service will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, with Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard in the pulpit.

Rev. Stewart R. Sheriff of Bethany will conduct pre-Easter services at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. He will speak at each service on the general theme of "Calvary," and all are welcome.

Holy week at the Church of the Ascension will be ushered in with the Palm procession and singing of "The Palms" by the choir at 11 o'clock on Sunday. The Gospel story of the week will be read with meditation each day from Monday to Friday inclusive. Instead of a three-hour service on Good Friday a one hour service will be held from 2 to 3. The Easter services will be as usual at 7:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. with special music and Easter offerings.

Scout Head Names Board Of Directors

Officials To Direct Various Activities Of The Boy's Organizations Here

Norman B. Jensen, newly elected chairman of the executive committee of the Boy Scout organization here, yesterday announced the appointment of a board of directors in the following communication to The News:

On Tuesday, March 28th at 7:45 P. M., delegates representing many social, religious, educational, fraternal and commercial organizations of Sierra Madre elected a new Community Boy Scout Executive Committee.

As chairman of that committee it is also my duty to represent my community at the regular meetings of the Board of Directors of the Pasadena-San Gabriel Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

May I prevail upon you to extend my appreciation to the people through the medium of The Sierra Madre News. We realize that during these times of economic depression and financial distress there is an increase in the responsibility of the community to the boy. Therefore, we emphasize the necessity for a courageous stand at this time in support of the ideals to be found in the program of character building and citizenship training of the Boy Scouts of America.

My selection of the Community Board of Directors has been approved by your Executive Committee as follows:

Director of Court of Honor, Roy Edwards Sr., to be assisted by Colonel H. B. Hersey.

Director of Finance, Frank Spencer, to be assisted by Thomas Neale, Daniel H. Lewis and Harold Roberts.

Director of Troop Organization and Extension, Merrill Jensen.

Director of Camping and Outdoor Activities, Robert Newbery, assisted by Victor Hill.

Director of Leadership Training, William Schwartz, assisted by William Barry.

Director of Civic Service and Publicity, Arthur Embree, assisted by John Grey.

Director of Reading, Lee Shippey.

Members at large, Dean Arnold Bode, R. O. Caukin.

Quake And Storm Proof Dwelling Built By Birds

Mr. and Mrs. House-Finch moved out of their home, which was located in a rose bush belinging to Mrs. W. J. Ladd, at 258 Mariposa, this week, and provided food for thought among their architectural contemporaries.

The Finch nest, which now is on view in The News office window, is about as quake and storm proof a job as could be imagined, for it is not only securely wedged into a cone shaped number of branches, but anchored with a string and safety-pin as well. The pin is hooked onto a branch, the string is (or was before the whole dwelling was removed for observation when it became vacant) wound several times around the dwelling as a precaution against breezes beyond the zephyr stage.

Petitions Demand Repeal Of City's Prohibition Act But The Town Stays 'Dry'?

Many Local Residents Will Join In Jollification Elsewhere When "Beer Comes Back" And Many Private Celebrations Are Planned Here Tonight When Gambrinus Blows His Horn—

A lot of Sierra Madreans who have "important business" in Los Angeles today will be within range of the music when Gambrinus blows his horn at 11 o'clock this morning and the lager begins to flow over the counters and tables of cafes in the wet zone bounded by Grand Avenue and the Los Angeles River and Temple and Ninth streets.

Sierra Madre will be as legally dry as before Congress let down the prohibition bars for the beer and wine drinkers, but many of those who will help celebrate the return of beer in Los Angeles establishments are going in their motor cars and expect to bring back the wherewithal for local celebrations in various homes tonight. Many such parties have been arranged. The local bakery and markets report an unprecedented number of orders for rye bread, while the grocery stores found their stock of pretzels, limburger cheese, bologna, sardines, pigs feet and other essentials of the old Dutch lunch almost depleted yesterday.

Obviously many of those who plan trips to the metropolis, particularly those who find it impossible or inconvenient to make the excursion until late in the afternoon or this evening, are not sure about the effect that "3.2" beer is likely to have upon them. They have arranged to travel by Pacific Electric trains to make certain that the return trip may be safely negotiated. A number of such parties have been arranged. One gathers that outgoing cars will be uncomfortably crowded after the 6 o'clock train pulls out and that it may be necessary to add extra cars to the trains leaving the city at or about midnight. If you should hear exultant whoops and the quiet of a Sierra Madre night should be somewhat disturbed about the witching hour you'll know that Congress made a miscalculation or was badly advised by the experts and scientists who solemnly vowed that there was no kick in the new beverage.

Several hundred local citizens, including a lot of church elders and trustees of known temperate habits and an abomination for the cup that cheers, made an unsuccessful eleventh hour effort to have Sierra Madre included among the cities that might legally and publicly join in the celebration that is to mark the return at least in part of "the good old days."

They petitioned the City Council to hold a special meeting on Wednesday and repeal the Puritanically drastic local ordinance that makes it a high crime and misdemeanor to have so much as the aroma of alcohol about one's person much less any "three-two" decoction on the inside and requires the properly constituted authorities to all but garrote anyone so bold as to have a case of beer in his domicile.

When the petitions were presented on Wednesday morning the Council went into a huddle with City Solicitor Phil Dodson.

"I hope," said the Solicitor, "that you gentlemen will not consider my advice in any way influenced by the fact that I ran on a dry platform as a candidate for Congress last Fall, but I must inform you that you cannot comply with the demand of the petition. The charter law of your city was framed to prevent the surreptitious railroading of legislation of which the public is unaware or with which it is not in sympathy. It therefore specifically provided that ordinances might be introduced only at regular or stated meetings on dates of which the public is fully aware. You will, therefore, be obliged to wait until you sit in

Public Fund Gives Work To 147 Here

More Jobs In Sight As County Makes Allocation For New Project

In March 147 men went to work in Sierra Madre and approximately $4500 flowed into the city through the payroll route. It was the high-water month in the employment of the unemployed here. And now comes the announcement from City Business Manager Al Myers that the city's petition for $3000 for materials to complete a flood conduit system from the mouth of the Little Santa Anita in Sierra Madre Canyon to the city spreading grounds has been approved by the Board of Supervisors and work will commence immediately.

Practically all of the money that has come into the city on the flood control work so far has been from county stabilization funds derived from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's loan to the state. The number of local men now at work includes 121 on the spreading grounds, 10 on the Santa Anita Highway, four on the San Gabriel Canyon project, and nine on flood control work in the Santa Anita wash. Last month's appropriation exceeded the preceeding month by a thousand dollars, according to city reports.

The flood control conduit, which will bring the water of the Los Angeles Flood Control wash at the mouth of the Little Santa Anita, down Sycamore Place to Grand View avenue and to the three-acre foot basin now under construction on the spreading grounds will have a capacity of 100 acre feet every 24 hours. This means that all flood waters may be taken care of adequately, and diverted into the spreading grounds to filter into the underground basin from which the city's water supply is pumped.

In detail the conduit will consist of a high capacity pipeline leading from the head of Sycamore to a catch box on Grand View avenue. Flood waters already coming into the box from the quarterway station will be cared for through a side entrance, and the water from the new pipe enter through the front.

Tuition At Jaysee Would Cut Number Of Pupils In Half?

Striking out at legislation he characterized as tending to disrupt the educational system of the State, Pasadena School Superintendent John Sexson stated Monday night at a Town meeting in the Crown City that the enrollment at the Pasadena Junior College would drop one half if the proposed bill to charge a $50 per semester tuition fee were passed through the legislature. Sierra Madre would be directly affected by passage of such a bill as she is in the Pasadena high school district and sends a number of students to the Junior College.

"The question now before us," Sexson said, "is how to meet the limitations that are proposed for higher education . . . Bills now pending would limit enrollment from the ninth grade on to the universities . . . Lessons could be learned from other nations in this regard. For example, the United States is the only nation curtailing school expenditures at the present time."

Per Capita Tax Figures Reach Dizzy Height

Sierra Madre has a per capita tax $7.71 less than the average tax of all towns of its approximate size in the county, according to the compilation of statistics for 1932 released this week. The per capita tax, including the school tax, here is but $42.91 as compared with the average of $50.62. Arcadia, home of bitter factional politics and frequent recall campaigns, heads the list with a high tax of $72.31.

An extremely high per capita tax is paid by some of the larger cities including San Marino, where it amounts to $155.78, and Vernon, which is an industrial center with little resident population, $934.57. Pomona touches the bottom of the chart with $35.98. All of these figures are actually greater than they appear when i tis taken into consideration that there are a great number of children as well as many adults who pay no direct tax, thus shifting the burden to the actual taxpayers.

CUTS MUST COME

In 1930 the population of the United States was a trifle less than twice that of 1890.

The National wealth was six times as great.

The tax collections of government, Federal, State and local, were 12 times the 1890 levies. An 827 per cent increase was registred by the Federal government, with State and local taxes jumping 1754 per cent and 1139 per cent respectively.

Since 1930 taxes have continued to increase. National income has taken an appreciable drop. There has been little change in population. At the moment, more of the individual and business dollar goes to government than at any other time in our history. During 1933 it is estimated that taxes will take at least 30 per cent of the National income.

Taxation is as serious an economic problem as we have ever faced. There has been, on the one hand, an unprecedentd collapse in income and values—on the other, an unprecedented orgy of government spending and indebtedness.

Until taxes are reduced, there can be no real recovery—unless taxes are reduced we face a bleak future.

WOMAN 93 DIES AS RESULT OF FALL HERE

Mrs. Olive Bell, of the British Old People's Home, 647 Manzanita avenue, passed away on Friday night, following an illness of two weeks. Mrs. Bell celebrataed her 93rd birthday February 20 and had been in good health until she suffered a fall recently. She was born in New Brunswick, Canada, residing in California for the past 20 years, the last three of which were spent here. Surviving are two sons, Ward and John Bell, of Vancouver, B. C.; a grandson, Hugh Wilson, and two great grandchildren, Marion and Hugh Wilson, of Los Angeles.

Dean A. G. H. Bode officiated at the funeral services on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in Los Angeles.

PEACE AND TAXES

The friends of world peace are the best friends of tax reduction as well.

The cost of war—past, present, and future—is the major item in the operating cost of every great power. In this country, 72 per cent of all federal funds go for war debts, war veterans and the army and navy.

Organized destruction hits every pocketbook.

A. L. A. Activities

By Dorothy Shetler

IT WILL be to the interest of every member of the A.L.A. to be present at the next meeting, Thursday, April 13, at 7:45 in the Legion Headquarters .The Junior Auxiliary is planning a big surprise for the senior "Auxiliarines." The whole affair excepting the tiniest bit of information is all a secret. The girls can certainly keep a secret, and outside of wanting a little space in The News, are being very mum about the whole thing.

The Juniors will meet in the City Hall this Saturday afternoon, for a special meeting. President Stinman requests that all Junior members be on time.

A bouquet of flowers was sent to the family of Georgine Perry whose unexpected death has saddened many friends and relatives. The A.L.A. expressed sympathy to her bereaved family.

An addition to the list of members that assisted their President at the Auxiliary Day at the Wistaria Fete is Mrs. Florence Wilhelmi. Leila Embree, Bertha Irvine have been doing more to help the P.T.A. And Edith Woodruff says that when the Fete is over she hopes everyone will excuse her if she replies to every remark in this fashion—"Yes this vine has been growing for 40 years; yes it is lovely; yes it is true that it is 400 feet long; yes I'm sure there have been a million people up to see it; yes Sierra Madre is the most wonderful place in the world; yes luncheon is served everyday, and the food is simply delicious," and so on. You see Edith is at the information desk, and nearly everyone that passes her has some question to ask.

Lucile Pickett had friends on Sunday. The ideal kind of visitors! The friends came with a picnic lunch.

Bertha Irvine, Leila Embree and Your Scribe represented the local unit at the Golden Pageant of Comradeship, held under the auspices of the German Legion in Los Angeles last Saturday night. The whole affair was unusual. The concert band played first an American song then a German one.

And now for something both important and serious, and to be attended to at once. March 31st was the dead line for old members to get their dues paid up. Unless those that are delinquent wish to have no voice in the voting they'd better get one great big hustle on and visit with Secretary Minnie Stinman. President Barker urges each member that is not fully paid up to make an effort to do so at once, otherwise they must lose their membership.

Remember the big day in 18th District entertainment program—the last Wednesday night in April, at Alhambra. Something doing for everyone .Prizes for every game, door prizes, dance prizes, everyone has a chance to win something really valuable.

And now it seems fitting and proper to thank The News for the space the A.L.A. Activities had last week. If this town don't know that there is a very active unit in its midst, it won't be the fault of The. News.

Another neck breaking, back twisting effort took place at the Sergeant-At-Arm's home Tuesday night when the gym class took their lessons.

Poppy Day is gradually coming closer, and the work in the unit will soon be active along that line.

HEALTH AIDS

FOR GOOD HEALTH you must rid your bloodstream of its toxic poisonous waste materials. You must feed your bloodstream with natural organic materials, the things nature needs to build healthy tissue with.

Preventative of curative agents, are only found in our natural foods, in air, in water. The proper use of these vital health giving materials can only be productive of health and never result in disease, either in children or in adults.

Do you want to prevent or rid yourself of ill-health; do you want to build up new stores of health? Do you really want to repair the damage of worn-out tissues and spent nerve force; do you really want to pulsate with radiant vitality?

Then there is only one sane course; adopt common-sense natural methods and cleanse that poisoned, toxin-ladened bloodstream by corrective habits.

The "Fountain of Youth' 'is inherent in each and every one of us, if only we would coopérate with the constructive powers so endowed, and avoid hampering its workings by harmful habits.

Hot Lead

By Norman B. Jensen

PAST COMMANDERS' Night at Sierra Madre Post 297 was celebrated Monday night with a review of outstanding accomplishments during the nine years of post history before Commander Caukin was elected. Comrade Past Commander Roy Pickett presided over the interesting session.

Comrade Fleming explained plans of a committee on disaster and relief that was appointed by the Commander to consider the organization of a squad of Legionnairs to supplement and aid the regular governmental and organized relief agencies during an emergency. These plans were accepted and Comrade Art Embree was directed to organize the squad and carry out the desires of the post.

Comrade Waverly E. Pratt reported that repairs are being made on the ball diamond and that the team is getting into shape to meet Pasadena's team in the first game of the season the latter part of the month. Members of the team elected Comrade Minor Harkness as manager for the 1933 season. They also decided to encourage the formation of a Junior League team consisting of boys of high school age. Further plans will be announced later for the Juniors.

Several comrades occupied the floor in a discussion of the act of Congress providing for drastic cuts in disability allowances and pensions which was passed recently at Washington. A resolution expressing the desire of the Legion joining forces with all other veteran organizations for the purpose of presenting a united front in Washington so that worthy cases will not be neglected, was referred to the resolution committee to draft and present at the next regular meeting.

Comrade Adjutant Roy Shetler it developing a letter writing complex of considerable virtue. The two epistles ne wrote this week thanking other organizations for their spirit of comradeship toward us just proves that letter carrying can improve the mind as well as give one flat feet.

April 28 is Army Week devoted to our National Defense program.

Boy's Week is April 29 to May 6.

ST. CATHERINES GUILD TO HAVE PARTY AT ITALIA MIA

The Guild of St. Catherine will Mrs. Huntington Bledsoe, 185 meet next Tuesday at the home of North Lima street. Plans will be completed for a card party to be given at the home of Miss Thomasella H. BARN DANCE TO CELEBRATE GENERAL LEE'S SURRENDER

A barn dance is being planned by Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War for April 28, ni their club quarters upstairs in the Woman's Clubhouse.

In observance of Appomattox Day, recalling the surrender of Lee to Grant in 1865, members of the organization are requested to put out their flags on Sunday.

Did you ever stop to think

by EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee Okla.

MANY PEOPLE by deep reasoning, and others more or less by instinct, feel that now is the time to pay more attention to business and less to politics.

If the business men of neighboring cities get into your trade territory and get the business you should get, it is because they are awake and you are asleep. When this happens, don't send for an undertaker—send for the advertising man of this newspaper. He can help you!

There are many bright spots in the passing cloud of depression and now is the time to seize those bright spots and enlarge them, rather than dwell upon the blackness. So let us get ready to receive the advantages that are before us.

The way to keep a business before the public is by continuous advertising. People are forgetful When a business concern takes its name from public view it means an immediate loss to them.

Good merchandise, good prices and good advertising make a growing business.

Painless Taxes

Prudent is the person who looks ahead and plans for the future.

He is never caught with taxes due and no money with which to pay them.

Systematically he lays by a few dollars each month for taxes and other fixed obligations that are sure to come.

With money accumulated in this Bank upon which to draw, paying taxes and other obligations will be a painless operation.

Camps Offer Much To Boy On Vacation

Uncle Sam Has Big Inducement For Young Fellows During Summer

By Andrew Killoran

The coming summer will mark another year of Citizens' Military Training camps. All indications point to a greater number of American boys enrolling than ever before. If you have passed your 17th birthday and are anxious to make a good start in life, plan to spend a month this sumer at the nearest camp. The United States will pay all necessary expenses, including uniform and transportation and you will receive competent medical care, free.

You will go home in 30 days a better American, in better health and better able to take up your studies or return to your job.

Since the camps started in 1921 close to half a million fathers and mothers have sent their boys to the Citizens' Military Training Camps. Nowhere else is a boy so safe. Camps are supervised by regular Army officers. They will supervise your athletics, teach you to swim, drill, march, shoot and pitch camp; expert instruction and necessary equipment for your favorite sport will be furnished by the Government. All these advantages are your's without cost or obligation.

Four courses of instruction are given at Camp—the basic first summer, and the more advanced Red, White and Blue courses the second, third and fourth summers. After you complete your Blue course you are, if recommended, well on your way toward a commission as second lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve, provided you are sufficiently interested in the defence of the Nation to desire such a commission. But there is no obligation to accept such a Commission. All the Government desires is that you attend one Camp. The officers in charge will try, without lowering the standard of training, to make your duties and recreation so pleasant that you will want to go back the next and succeeding summers.

Qualifications: Age 17 to 24. You must be a male citizen of the United States, physically qualified and of good moral character. The Camp for this locality is at Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, and is conducted for the month of June 23 to July 22.

Do not delay in deciding to avail yourself of this summer vacation. Many camps have their quotas entirely filled weeks before the application date closes. The rule is first come, first served. For application blank and full particulars we refer you to the nearest Camp representative, Lt. Col. George H. White, Pasadena High School, Pasadena.

found that out. But it's a greater problem to find capable instructors who are altruistic enough to donate their time and abilities so that the study of art in our community can be made "As free as air."

You know if one dreams and works hard enough almost anything can ultimately be accomplished—there comes a time when one gets a "break"—when things seem to "click."

The lucky break we refer to above has been brought about by the recent arrival in our midst of two outstanding artists who have bought a home here and are all pepped up over the League and will contribute their help in instructing students who are serious minded and really desire to further their study in art.

Next week we will tell you more about these two additions to our Art Colony.

The League is going to begin its existence without a penny in the treasury, as our worthy custodian, Dean Bode, will admit.

We have a barn that can be turned into an ideal studio, but that needs a lot of cleaning and fixing up. Among other things we need some husky members of the League, who are willing to donate a few hours work, to come down and help out. Call "Yours Truly" at 143 and come on down and we'll organize a cleaning up bee.

The barn has a cement floor and if anyone can donate some old rugs, chairs and things they'll be appreciated a lot. The barn will have to be wired for lighting if there are to be night classes and if anyone will help out along that line it will mean a lot towards getting under way.

Local Sports Paragraphs

By John Copeland

THE FIRST ball game of the season will be played here next Tuesday night. Emile Smith's All-Stars—yclept this year Sierra Madre Furniture Company team—have a practice tilt with a Bethany Church team.

Mr. Smith, starting in where he left off last year, issues a blanket challenge to all and sundry—including the Legion, you will note. The chair-and-tablers will probably meet an outfit from Echo Park soon. Bob Chavis, formerly of here and recently a tennis plotter, is now arranging for such a game.

A golfing we shall go. Jack Woehler and Emile Smith took a close match from Gordon Wolfe and George MacRoberts of late on the Altadena links.

Richard Pratley, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hauk, be it known, is one of the most versatile lads on the Woodrow Wilson high school's track team in Pasadena. He's junior champ in the 8-pound shot event, and also runs the 50-yard dash and relays.

A trio of local baseball men, impatient of the late starting season here, jaunted over into the Big Tujunga Canyon Sunday to play with an Arroyo Seco team. They were Bus Thomas, Jobie Kiggins and Earl Marsh. Handling a smaller ball han the standard used in these parts all three made good averages—all being credited with three or four hits out of five times at bat.

Thursday the Monrovia District bowling schdule comes near to a finish, with Sierra Madre team tied up with the Central Club in Monrovia for third place. The Monrovia News-Post team and the Monrovia Elks are competing for first.

Once upon a time the Kiwanis and the Firemen had bowling ideas, but that was in the past and now the aggregation of John Froelich, Shaeffer, Andy Liscomb, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krinke is the only team of which this city can boast.

OLD PEOPLES HOME DAY AT CITY'S FETE

A group of officials of the British Old People's Home organization this afternoon will visit the Wistaria Vine, under the direction of W. R. Humphries, after a tree planting ceremony and tea at the organization's quarters here at 647 Manzanita avenue.

The afternoon's activities in Sierra Madre will conclude the third annual meeting of the Home, under the auspices of the Daughters of the British Empire of the Western States. This morning the meeting opens at the Women's Athletic Club, 833 South Flower street, in Los Angeles. Invocation will be given by Bishop R. B. Gooden, and present will be T. B. Weatherbee, A. H. Merrew, W. M. Gurney and other officials.

CENT-A-MILE TRAVEL FOR EASTER VACATION

Plans for a four-day offering of cent-a-mile transportation over the Easter period, April 13 to 16, was announced by G. W. Wetherby, district passenger agent for Southern Pacific company. The so called Dollar Day bargains in train rides will provide for round trip travel over the railroad's lines throughout the west. A return limit to April 25 has been authorized in order to give excursionists ample time for distant journeys, it was stated.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

THERE stands a group of "parkers" on the parking lot each day and they whisper 'park' so gently that the visitors all stay. Invariably they ask the boys, "How much to park a car?" and hope it doesn't cost too much, because they've come from far. Some come from Ashtabula and some from Timbuctoo, while others come from Oshkosh and tell how they got through. Lee Hibbs is first to greet them, he directs them down the line, to pass up Norris, Steve and Bob, 'till they get the perfect sign. 'Tis not a bit confusing, they are told just what to do, and usually they get a place in Jim's bald-headed row. Some folks who come, seem not to know, just what it's all about, but once the car is parked within, the whole darn load jumps out. And in they go and look around, they gaze with joy and awe, we think sometimes they'll ne'er come out—they're thrilled with what they saw. Some rave about the flowers and vine! the ladies like the tea, the chauffers choose the sandwiches, they're just like George and Lee. The men folks like the vine, of course, and chicken pie's their meat, but somehow they're distracted, by the waitresses, so neat. On Sunday, cars came in so fast the "parkers" had to fly to keep the cars parked perfectly, so others could get by. In all the dust and gassy fumes stood Hayes upon the hill. His arms flew like a gyroplane—that is they did until the cars began to come too fast. His face got red as wine, 'tis then he called on big long "Tex" to keep the cars in line. Our Louie, who is corpulent, was busy as a bee, he parked the cars all o'er the lot and got the biggest fee. And after all is said and done, the boys deserve a break, for not a car's been dented and this is no mistake.

Jim Heasley parking cars one afternoon and dressed as a fireman was overdoing himself in the act of a common courtesy to a couple of fine looking lady visitors. He parked their car in a difficult place and when the ladies returned for their car, he immediately backed it from the small space and "put on the dog" in great style. The ladies were so grateful for such unusual service that they lauded our "parkers" with many compliments for the way they were treated. One of the ladies said, "You firemen are surely accommodating," and as James backed away from the car, he heard her say to her companion, "You know—those firemen are better than all the policemen put together." When one of the firemen heard this, he spread the word around, and now the old jealousy is all stirred up again.

One more Sunday and the Fete will be over. No regular meeting tonight. All those who care to to come to the Quarters, there is always room for a good argument, be it about beer, Technocracy, baseball or bridge.

NEW PLANTS ADD INTEREST TO THE HOME GARDEN

A RECENT immigration to our land is Venidium Fastuosum. This beautiful new species comes to us from South Africa. Plants grow to a height of 2½ feet. The flowers, which are four and five inches in diameter, rise well above the foliage, which is of greyish green color, and of a fuzzy silken texture. They are borne on long stout stems, are equally decorative in the garden as in the vase. Seeds of this flower should be sown in warm soil and plants should be in a sunny situation.

Other recent arrivals include Ursina Anethoides, which is a daisy-like flower about two inches in diameter and a light orange color.

Arcotus New Hybrids, which was introduced from Africa several years ago, but still unknown to the average home gardener, is well worth an acquaintance.

The Australian Hybrid Perennial Poppy comes to us from Australia. It is a new type of Iceland poppy, producing large long-stemmed flowers of pink, orange and salmon shades. Seeds of these should be sown where the plants are to flower, and in rows, where they may be cultivated.

California's recent contribution to floriculture is the new annual Canterbury Bell, which blooms in six months from seed. Plants of these grow about 2½ feet in height, producing several spikes of flowers in a variety of colors mostly blue, pink, rose shades and white.

Home gardeners who are partial to petunias will rejoice to know that there is now a strain of beautiful Giant Ruffled and Fringed Petunias. They were exhibited at flower shows last year for the first time. This new strain produces large flowers right from the beginning. Flowers are extremely large, mostly ruffled, and fringed, and in a variety of very attractive colors. Then there are the smaller but very beautiful Petunias known as Theodosia, Pink Triumph, Elks Pride (which is a deep purple), Coppery Rose (no other color like this one) and the Balcony Petunias which may be trained on lattice.

Other flowers which, while not wholly new, may yet be strangers to most gardeners, are Tithonia Speciosa, which is commonly known as the Mexican Sunflower—this grows to a height of about five feet and requires considerable space.

Cashing In On A Good Name

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Sec. Agricultural Legislative Committee of California

QUALITY products, honestly packed and labeled—standard commodities which have won the respect and confidence of America's housewives—constitute the California farmer's main opportunity to survive a period of glutted markets and depleted buying power.

There may have been some producers, as well as legislators, who doubted the soundness of that truism in times of comparative prosperity, but the present Legislature has already furnished strong evidence that no one discounts the tremendous value of standardization during a period of depression.

The series of standardization bills, tightening California's grip on the right to be known as a state of quality products, with labels which are a guarantee of contents, has moved forward in the Legislature with little or no opposition. The great majority of these bills already have passed the Assembly and are before the Senate with every indication that thy will be approved by that house and enacted into law.

It is worthy of note that standardization has actually proved itself, beyond question of anyone connected with the agricultural industry, during the past few years. Four years ago ,California adopted the strongest standardization act in the entire United States, but two years ago, due to failure of some of the producers as well as consumers to appreciate the full value of the system, it was modified and weakened. Today there is a general demand from all interested agencies for a return to the finest standards in the nation.

Among standardization measures which have passed one house of the Legislature and are fairly certain of becoming law are bills setting up improved standards for lettuce, grapefruit, melons, cantaloupes, persimmons, dates, walnuts and avocados.

Church Here Sponsors A Missionary

Congregationalists Adopt Woman Worker In China As Their Project

A unique missionary dinner was held Wednesday evening by members of the Congregational Church. Dinner arrangements were in charge of a committee of ladies with Mrs. A. F. Snell as chairman. The motif of the evening was not the general subject of missions, a country or a specific field, but a missionary, Miss Florence A. Floyd of Ingtai, Fukien Province, China.

The pastor, Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, presided and introduced Mrs. J. Earl Gossard as one who had served with her husband, for a number of years, in the same province. Mrs. Gossard gave in a very entertaining way, the problems facing Miss Floyd in adjusting herself to the new field to which she has gone —problems of custom, life, food and language.

The next speaker was Rev. Holland F. Burr, of the Oneonta Park Church and pastor of Miss Floyd. He told in an intimate way her life in Alhambra, her schooling there, graduation from Redlands University, and her decision to dedicate her life to the service of Christ in foreign lands.

The Church then voted to take Miss Floyd as its project and authorize the Board to apply its foreign missionary contribution toward the salary of Miss Floyd.

Members were much pleased with the fact that she was a California girl, educated in California and would represent the Church in the highly important work of teaching in the Ingtas girl's school.

"WHAT! NO BEER" AT LYRIC IN MONROVIA

"The Sign of the Cross," Cecil B. DeMille's latest spectacle drama is now playing at the Lyric Theatre in Monrovia. Ending Saturday night this film, which includes such accomplished players as Claudette Colbert, Frederic March, and Elissa Landi, tells of the persecution of the early Christians, and shows in splendid photography the gigantic Roman orgies which led to the fall of the Empire.

At the special Junior Matinee tomorrow afternoon there will be a cartoon, a serial and a Bing Crosby comedy on the bill.

Starting Sunday is a double feature bill including Buster Keaton and "Schnozzle" Durante in the timely "What! No Beer?" and "Dangerously Yours," starring Warner Baxter.

Announcement is made by the Lyric management that Warner Brothers' much discussed "42nd Street" will open April 16 for a limited run.

MASSACHUSETTS WOMAN VISITS SCHOOL CHUM HERE

Miss Edwina James, of Cambridge, Mass., arrived Saturday morning to spend the summer with Miss Thomasella H. Graham, of North Lima street. Miss James and Miss Graham were school chums and Miss I. E. Munsell, Miss Graham's houseguest, was their school teacher in art and history at a private school in Columbia, Tenn. When Miss James heard of Sam Graham's accident she left for the West Coast to help Miss Graham during his illness. Mr. Graham stayed at Miss James' home while he attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he graduated.

Two hundred and twenty young members of the Foothill district of the Crusaders of the Foursquare Churches met here Monday night. Services were led by Rev. Guy Toby, and music was furnished by the El Monte band.

Early Spring Model

cal of the young artist's many Western studies.

Henry Ivins Hawxhurst presents two oils, "Morning" and "Evening," both showing his love of live color, both impregnated with a vitality that is not weakened by any lack of sound fundamental composition.

Five of Alfred James Dewey canvasses display that gentleman's versatility: "Haide," "Desert Canyon," "Sweet Ado-line," "Buck Gobson and His Horse," and "Hidden Spring Canyon." They run the gamut from a large study of four elderly men singing the old song, with a variety of expressions, to a charming scene of a cottage worked in leather brush.

New to Sierra Madre, one of the most famous names of any of the exhibitors is Frances Ames. Two oils show her capability in the field of portraiture for which she is especially noted. "Mrs. Maurice Brown," and "Lady in Red" are two of her canvasses. The latter, of a woman in a red coat, is extremely fresh and sparkling. The subject lives in the treatment of a hand in repose, of shining dark eyes, reflecting light.

All nearby vistas of hills and pastures are four delicate water colors by Catherine Tuttle, whose pictures show much improvement over any of her previous work. Her titles include "Eucalyptus," "Sunlit Path," "Green and Gold," and "Vista—Baldwin Hills."

The remaining water colors are "Costume Designs for Fire Dance" by Dakotah Carlyle. These, in the nature of pure design, nevertheless hold the eye with fantastic movement.

Beatrice Ward Kelterborn has on exhibit four pastels: "Margaret," "Italian Boy," "Frederic Nichols," and "Coquette." The one of the boy and "Coquette" are probably the most arresting of the group, although the portrait of the artist's grandfather, Mr. Nichols, might be classed as the most serious effort.

Vernon Jay Morse, who needs no word of introduction to Sierra Madre art lovers, shows four oils, "Bobby," "Steve, the Old Sheriff," "Sonoma Coast," and "La Crescenta Meadow." Ruth Taylor's "Spring Flowers" and "Clouds" are well done, as are "The Old Stone House" and "Carmel By the Sea," of Henrietta Isaacs.

M. Stanton, one of the city's less publicized and most retiring women artists, has contributed three canvasses done in oil that admirably reflect the beauty of the Sierra Madre scene, "Mustard Field," "Baldwin Oaks" and "The Blue Pool" all capture in paint what the average townsman fails to appreciate in its proximity.

Lastly, but not least either in number of canvasses or quality of work is Lloyd Krebs, whose titles follow: "Painted Canyon," "Petunias," "At Carmel," "On the Road to Twenty-Nine Palms," and "Among the Redwoods." All are excellent and worthy of detailed description.

Hosts and nostesses to the large crowd present at the reception last evening were the following: Mrs. Alfred James Dewey, who presided at the punch bowl, Misses Marion Vannier, Elizabeth Steinberger and Lalla Fagge, Mayor and Mrs. H. Clay Reavis, City Business Manager and Mrs. Al S. Myers, City Clerk and Mrs. Waverly E. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawless, Mr. and Mrs. Lester K. Layton, Mr. and Mrs. Warren O. Preston, Mr. and Mrs. William Lees, Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jensen. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pulling, Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flather, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wammock, Mr. and Mrs. J .S. Weber and Mrs. Mary Otte.

In addition to the Little Gallery exhibit, The News office also boasts of a new array of canvasses contributed by Artist Hawxhurst. These include several nearby mountain and canyon scenes, and some of beautious females who caught the artist's fancy. All of the pictures now on The News walls have attracted much attention at exhibits throughout California and have already brought many visitors into the office.

LOCAL QUINTET WINS EXCITING GAME FROM FAST MONROVIA TEAM

A rough and ready quintet of Sierra Madre basketballers got going strong Tuesday night to take Cole's Monrovia team down the line by the close margin of 32-30 in the P.J.C. gym. It was the first time in a year and a half that the Monrovia players have been on the short end of the score.

Bob Levinson was high point man for the evening, piling up 18 digits—which included eight field goals. Score at the half was tied all up in knots, 12-12, and after the final whistle the Cole men demanded a return game. Following is the locals boxscore:

WOULD EXPLOIT CITY

Exploitation of Sierra Madre as a desirable place of residence through the medium of a series of programs over a radio station, was suggested in a communication received by the local Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. The letter stated that San Gabriel valley and foothill towns are being offered the opportunity to present friendly competitive programs each Sunday afternoon.

Citizens Petition For Repeal Of City Prohibition Law

a regular session before the ordinance prayed for may be introduced or considered, whatever your disposition in the situation may be."

And so there was no special Council meeting, the dry ordinance continues in effect and the city's celebrations will necessarily consist of private if not altogether quiet parties here and there. And the situation, legally, will probably prevail for at least two weeks, the first regular meeting of the Council being scheduled for next Wednesday.

The repeal petitions were hurriedly put into circulation on Tuesday and sought to make it possible for local markets to sell beer so that the jollification might be unconfined here. They read as follows:

Realizing that the sale of beer and wine in nearby cities as authorized by recent legislation will take from Sierra Madre merchants thousands of dollars of business rightfully theirs, the undersigned merchants and registered voters respectfully petition the Honorable Council of the City of Sierra Madre to immediately call a special meeting and repeal or modify City Ordinance No. 269 to comply with Federal regulation governing the sale of light wines and beer.

"The undersigned petitioners further request that such modification include a provision making it illegal to sell legal beer or wine to minors."

Some curiosity was expressed as to whether in the event that Ordinance 269, enacted in 1923, is repealed, a former regulatory act, Ordinance No. 11, would automatically be in effect. This law, passed in 1907, was repealed by the later legislation, which included provision that any measure opposed to itself be null and void. Number 11 specified certain places for liquor dispensation, but assumed no control over private residences or properties.

Civil War Veteran Has 87th Birthday

Nichols, for 26 years a Sierra Madre resident, father of Mrs. Mary Ward and grandfather of Mrs. Jessie Ward Russell and Mrs. Beatrice Ward Kelterborn, will celebrate his eighty-seventh birthday at his home at 45 Olive street tomorrow. No family celebration as has been customary in the past will take place, but Mr. Nichols will spend the day quietly at home with his wife whom he married 66 years ago.

A veteran of the Civil War, having soldiered in the army of the Potomac and gone through the sieges of Richmond, Petersburgh and Yorktown, Mr. Nichols is today a vigorous and active man, spending his time working in his garden and constructing furniture for home use.
